FOOD & PRODUCERS

Visual storytelling for hospitality & food brands

I am based in York, North Yorkshire and have 14 years experience working with brands across Yorkshire and the UK.

Stepping across genres

I work across different genres for my clients which is such a benefit for hospitality brands who require their imagery to cover a mix of subjects with a consistent look. Food, people, interiors and lifestyle photography all come together to create a strong story.

Mouthwatering food

2020 was a really strong year for food commissions. I've continued to build on my styling experience to create some beautiful images alongside editorial style images documenting chefs and producers at work.

The art of being authentic

My documentary and editorial style produces natural, spontaneous images which engage target audiences. I'm a strong believer that it's the details that matter.

An eye for light

I am a location specialist who loves the challenge of finding and creating beautiful light, happily switching from field or factory to a natural light food studio at your premises.

WORKING SAFELY IN 2021

Commercial photography shoots are permitted within the current Government guidelines. I have produced a new Covid-19 policy to communicate how I am managing a safe working environment for myself and my clients.

Some shoots have had to be postponed until later in the year due to the nature of the subject and environments. However, there are many shoots that can continue safely and effectively.

I am based in York and working across Yorkshire and where appropriate the rest of the UK.

I am always available for an initial chat during the early stages of a brief to determine what would be feasible for you and your business.

TESTIMONIALS

Olivia understands our requirements as a brand

“Olivia’s documentary style has brought new life to our location and lifestyle photography. She understands our requirements as a brand and how to manage timings on a shoot.”

Visual Merchandising Manager at Bettys

She always produces work of the highest quality

“Olivia has a gift for making you feel completely at ease. She is so accommodating of any ideas or concepts that you may have. She has great experience in creating the right style for a brand, and always produces work of the highest quality.”

Grays Court Hotel

Olivia blew us away with her incredible eye for detail

“Olivia completely blew us away with her incredible eye for detail, and the ability to calmly move from situation to situation. She effortlessly captured hero shots - both interior and exterior, beautiful archive images of our collections, as well as documentary shots of visitors exploring the house. Olivia’s style is perfect to show the beauty of an expansive space, picking out hidden details, and capturing enticing shots to showcase the best you have to offer.”
